

Editorial Policy of SRADDHA ISSN : 2321-273X

1. Publication Policy - Original, unpublished and error-free Manuscripts on any branch of Indology, review of recently published Indological books, review of earlier issues of SRADDHA may be submitted (in two copies, one in MS word and one in PDF form) for publication by authors of any discipline. The length of the article may be restricted within 5000 words. Each article should be accompanied by an abstract not exceeding 100 words along with key-words. The font for English should be Times New Roman/ Indo Times Roman 1.20 and the font for Sanskrit and Hindi should be Akruti DevPriya /Unicode. Diacritical marks should be used and the same are to be italicized wherever necessary.
2. Preparation of Manuscripts- Manuscripts must be type-written, double spaced, including references, footnotes, and extracts, with at least 1.5-inch margins on all sides. Footnotes are to be numbered consecutively and should appear at the end of the article. Footnote numbers in the text should be typed one line above the text without periods or parentheses. References in the text should provide the author's name and the year of original publication of the paper or book in parentheses, for example, Lamotte (1970) said... Whenever material is quoted directly, the quotation must be exact and must be followed by the page references. Each page of the manuscript should be numbered.
3. Plagiarism Policy - It is the policy of the Journal that all contributions will be submitted to referees (specialists in respective fields) for expert evaluation and a plagiarism test. Any change suggested by them will then be - referred to the authors or if any minor changes required will be done accordingly by the editors.

4. Self-declaration Policy - Name, address, designation, Institutional affiliation, phone no. and email are of the author must be provided. The author has to attach a self-certification to the effect that the write-up has not been published/not sent for publication anywhere else.
 5. References - The authors' names are to be listed in alphabetical order, followed by the year of original publication of the article (or book), name of publication (or location and name of publisher), volume number, beginning and end pages, and, if the year of original publication does not coincide with the edition referred to, year of publication of the edition referred to. When several papers by one author are referred to, they should be in chronological sequence. When an author has published several papers in the same year, the date is followed by a, b, c, etc. References should include only works cited in the text.
 6. Contact Information - Articles for the publication and communications concerning editorial matters should be sent to Editor-in chief with her office address and the same may be mailed to following Mail ID – sraddhaissn@gmail.com
 7. Remarks - The contributor would be informed about acceptance or otherwise of their paper in due course of time. The editorial board reserves the right to reject any submission on reasons considered appropriate.