5.1.3: -Report with Photographs on ICT/ computing skills enhancement program

Gangadhar Meher University, has two specialized departments—the School of Computer Science and the Master in Computer Application—to offer ICT/Computing Skills knowledge and training needed to thrive in the fast-changing digital landscape. Additionally, other departments also incorporate computer applications into their respective subjects to provide comprehensive knowledge.

To support ICT needs of the students the University has a dedicated computer center in “Dr.Narayani Panda resouce center” with goals that include: (i) Enhancing the understanding of students on fundamental ICT concepts and applications; (ii) Strengthening problem-solving and critical thinking skills through hands-on computing activities; (iv) Fostering a collaborative and supportive learning environment that encourages knowledge sharing and teamwork; (v) Preparing students for the challenges of the digital era; as well as Improving their employability skills for technology-driven industries.

The University also collaborates with various institutions, including SUIIT Sambalpur, NIT Rourkela, VSSUT Burla, IIRS Dehradun, IIM Sambalpur, IBM Pune, IBM Kolkata, Naandi Foundation, 502, Trendset Towers and with others, to offer skill-based training and employment opportunities. Photographs and evidence of the programs conducted are given below:

Invited Lecture

21.02.2024

Topic :- Unforced Error and Magnificent ~~shot~~

Speaker :- Dr. Anup Kumar Pujari, IAS (Retd.)

Venue :- LG-1

Date :- 21 February 2024 (3.00 PM)

Abstract :-

The lecture is an excellent mix of how person behaves and how the errors happens. The lecture starts with ^{definition of} magnificent shots and how the unforced errors can break the chance of winnability. Law of unintended consequences was discussed which gives rise to the problem of 'perverse Incentive' and 'moral Hazard'. The lecture covers why money is not an incentive to do something? The speaker talks about the Framing effect and Siderot effect.

The lecture is expanded to covers issues in self behaviour, i.e. Anchoring Bias, Availability Bias, Asserion of Loss, Confirmation Bias and Survivorship Bias. The only way to avoid the bias and unforced error is Practice and repetition and continuity.

"INVESTOR AWARENESS AND THE ROLE OF REGULATORS" SEBI

In this session students learnt the importance of investor awareness. The main purpose of this seminar is to assemble, apply and execute best sustainable practices with timely innovation for a long-run endurance. He discussed the role of regulators in all the dimensions which was very useful for the students. Investor Awareness and the Role of Regulators" was the focal theme of a seminar hosted by SEBI, featuring Mr. Soumya Ranjan Sahoo as the Coordinator. Mr. Sahoo, representing SEBI, elucidated on the pivotal role regulators play in safeguarding investor interests and maintaining market integrity. Through his insightful discourse, attendees gained a deeper understanding of regulatory frameworks and their significance in fostering transparency and investor confidence. Emphasizing the importance of investor education, Mr. Sahoo underscored SEBI's commitment to promoting financial literacy and empowering investors to make informed decisions. The seminar served as a platform to bridge the gap between regulators and investors, fostering dialogue and mutual understanding in the financial landscape.
