Findings of the Field

- The average distance of the primary health center from the respondent's house is 2km.

- Most of the respondents prefer public health facilities over private hospitals due to the availability of free of cost services.
- Women are often indulged in domestic activities and do not get sufficient time for attending community health programs especially the yoga sessions at the PHCs.
- Sagarika Das, an AYUSH doctor viewed that most of the ST people are illiterate and visit hospital in worst cases. Female population has very low level of awareness. She also said that in most of the cases husbands interact with doctors for their wives.
